Former Auburn University Professor and
Licensed Professional Counselor

Event Description:

In this workshop, participants will learn about the trends associated with prescribing opioids for pain. The current guidance information on how to prescribe and monitor the use of opioids will be presented. Participants will also learn about effective prevention strategies that decrease the negative consequences associated with opioid misuse and overdose. Prevention strategies currently being utilized across the country will be explored and discussed. Participants will also be given an opportunity to discuss some of these trends with colleagues and get many of their questions answered about opioid misuse.

Learning Objectives - Participants will learn:

- How the guidance for prescribing opioids is changing
- What types of education approaches are being used to inform community members about the risks associated with opioid misuse
- Approaches to decrease the number of opioids available for misuse and overdose such as drug-take back days, prescription drug monitoring programs (PDMPs), and naloxone

Please invite your friends, colleagues, and loved ones to attend this event with you to learn together and support each other.
