Pain Management: What's New!?

Wednesday, July 19, 2023
2:00 p.m. EST/1:00 p.m. CT

SUMMARY:

The CDC recently released an update to the pain management guidelines in response to the backlash from the original 2016 release. This presentation will review how these guidelines are formed, what has changed, and why. We will also discuss medications that have newly come to the market in the past 3 years, as well as drugs scheduled for FDA review all with pain or opioid use disorder indications. This presentation is designed to provide a timely update for what is new in managing pain.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

Clinician or Physician, Community Member, Hospital/Pharmacy/Home Health Staff and Long-Term Care Facility.

ATTENDEES WILL LEARN:

1. Review the 2022 CDC guideline update on chronic pain management
2. Summarize guideline changes and relevance to pharmacy practice
3. Examine newly approved medications for the treatment of pain such as Seglentis, Dsuvia, and Olinvyk
4. Discuss what is coming in new drug development to prepare the pharmacist for the next phase of the opioid epidemic
