SUMMARY:

Last summer, residents of Eastern Kentucky experienced the unimaginable as torrential rains caused massive flooding, swept away cars and homes and claimed 45 lives. At the center of the tragedy was Appalachian Regional Healthcare (ARH).

Join Alliant Health Solutions and IPRO for this webinar. ARH representatives will share their experiences and lessons learned. You will also hear their stories of courage, compassion and resilience as they continue to support patients, employees, and the community at large in recovery and rebuilding.

IN THIS SESSION ATTENDEES WILL:

1. Understand the impact of geography, culture, and socio-economic status on planning and managing event response and community resiliency
2. Recognize the value of leveraging relationships and innovative approaches to event management.
3. Identify strategies for collaborating with community partners through an extended recovery period.
