PARTNERSHIP FOR COMMUNITY HEALTH AND NURSING HOME SERIES:

Reducing Re-hospitalization in Congestive Heart Failure Patients: An Interdisciplinary Approach with Emphasis on Nursing Assessment

Thursday, September 26, 2024
12:30-1 p.m. ET/11:30 a.m.-12 p.m. CT

SUMMARY:

Congestive heart failure (CHF) continues to be a driver of nursing home readmissions. Join us for a discussion of strategies to improve care processes and strengthen the team approach to caring for CHF patients in post-acute care.

DURING THIS EVENT, LEARNERS WILL:

1. Understanding the disease process, causes and symptoms of CHF that can lead to rehospitalization.
2. Learn strategies for proactive, interdisciplinary identification and management of changes in condition.
3. Know the key role of nursing assessment and effective discharge planning in readmission prevention.
